MAJ. GEN. THOS. L. CRITTENDEN'S REPORT.

HEADQUARTERS 21ST ARMY CORPS, ) CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 1, 1863. In obedience to instructions from department headquarters, dated 25th ultimo, requiring me to forward, as soon as practicable, a report of the operations of my command during the late engagements, including a brief history of its movements from the time of crossing the Tennessee River up to the be-thus stationed since the 19th of August, having left Manchester, Tenn., on the 16th of from department headquarters at 12:30 A. M. of the 16th. At 2:15 P. M., I received your orders of the 30th, dated 12:30 P. M., to move sept. 13.—In the morning, the 4th U. S. my entire command, except the brigades of Generals Hazen and Wagner, as soon as practicable, down the Sequatchie Valley, and to supply myself with everything necessary for an active campaign. The orders further ade of mounted infantry, were to co-operate with Hazen and Wagner.

* Sept. 1.—My command all in motion. Gen. Wood and his command arrived at Jasper; Gen. Palmer within three miles of Jasper; and Gen. Van Cleve within five miles of Dunlap Sept. 2—Received orders to cross the river with one brigade at Jasper's Crossing and one Battle Creek; other parts of the command ollow as soon as the way is opened. Col. brigade, 1st division, marched at dark Mound, where he crossed the river in flats during the night.

Sept. 3.—Gen. Wood, with his other brigade Harker's), moved down early this morning to Shell Mound, and was across the river by 6 P. M., having been delayed till 2 P. M. by Gen. Reynolds's train. Col. Gross and his brigade (Palmer's division) moved down early this morning to Battle Creek, but were unable do secure the ferry, it being used all day by Gen. Brannan's division. Gen. Cruft and his brigade of Palmer's division was therefore ordered to Shell Mound, and he, following close on Gen. Wood, succeeded in crossing his command by 4 A. M. next day. Gen. Van Cleve, with his two brigades, arrived at Jasper and went into camp to await the crossing. Received from the General commanding orders for my movements and position after crossing the river, viz: To move up the val-ley of Running Water Creek and Whiteside, where I was to post one brigade, and send one division along the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad to the Trenton Road, and to push forward as near to Chattanooga as practicable and threaten the enemy in this direction. The remainder of the command to occupy a posi-tion near the junction of the Murphy Valley Road—the road marked on the man as good wagon road to Taylors. The movement to be completed on the evening of the 4th. Sept. 4.-At 3:20 A. M. received word from Moved Gen. Van Cleve down at once, and at 1 P. M. moved headquarters to Shell Mound, which crossed before night. Gen. Palmer suc-

mand was over the river.

Sept. 5.—At 2:30 P. M., after having the command organized and in position, and with all of the ammunition and most of the transportation up, troops all moved out light to side, Gen. Wood in the advance, Gen. Palmer in the centre, and Gen. Van Cleve in the rear, taking with them their ammunition trains,

P. M. to-morrow.

Sept. 6.—Road up Running Water Creek
At 9:30 P. M. arrived at rough but passable. At 9:30 P. M. arrived at junction of Murphy Valley and Ninajas road, and encamped there as ordered, Generals Paimer and Van Cleve, with their divisions, Howing us, and Gen. Wood, with his division, pursuing the road up Running Water Creek, and encamping seven miles from Chatoga, reporting that the enemy was close

Sept. 8-Gave orders to make two reconnoissauces to-morrow morning, the one up Lookout Mountain via Nirajack, and for which General Beatty and his brigade were were detailed, both to unite if practicable on top, and to start on or before day after to-

9, at 2:20 A. M., received a despatch from the General commanding the army, approving the two reconnoissances ordered, and directing that the whole command be held in readiness to move round the point of Look-out Mountain, to seize and occupy Chattanoo-ga in the event of its being evacuated. To move with caution, and not to throw my ar-tillery around the point of Lookout Mountain till I am satisfied that the evacuation is not a ruse. Should I occupy Chattanooga I am to order Gen. Wagner and all his force across to join me. At 5:45 A. M. further despatches from Department Headquarters apprising me of the evacuation of Chattanooga, and order-ing the whole command be pushed forward at once, with five days' rations, and to make vigorous pursuit. This later despatch was too late to stop the reconnoissances ordered, but I lost no time in putting the balance of the command in motion, and arrived in Chatta-nooga with Gen. Wood's division at 12:30 P. troops were well up, owing to the great delay in getting the artillery and ammunition train this very rough and precipitous hill. It thus impossible to make any pursuit to-

I, however, ordered Gens. Palmer and Van Cleve to turn off south after having passed the spur of Lookout Mountain and encamp at Rossville, distant three miles from Chatta instructions from Department Headquarters ordering me to leave a light brigade to hold Chattanooga, and with the balance of my command to pursue the enemy with the ut-most vigor. The line of march would probably lead me near Rigoli, and from thence in the vicinity of Dalton.

Sept. 10.—Gens. Palmer and Van Cleve, with their divisions, were ordered to make vigorous pursuit early this morning, marching inroad from Rossville to Ringgold and thence to Dalton, Gen. Wood, after leaving a brigade at Chattanooga, to follow with his two brigades in the same direction. General Wagner, with his brigade, having crossed during the night, was left as post commander.

At 4 P. M., received report from Gen. Palmer that, owing to want of supplies, the troops only marched six miles, the advance encamping at Chickamauga Creek, five miles from Ringgold, the rear, Gen. Hood, on Pea Vine Creek, two miles to rear of advance; also, that the enemy's cavalry was in his front, and that a portion of it had charged his advance, rode over four companies of the 1st Kentucky infantry and captured fifty men and two offi-cers, without any on either side being hurt. At night, received from the front several reports going to show that the enemy was in force this side of Lafay ette and threatening to retake Chattanooga.

Sept. 11.—At 1 A. M. the General commanding, feeling uncertain about the position and strength of the enemy in our front, ordered me to proceed to the front at once. Was mished by the guide and did not reach my com-mend till 5 A. M., and two of my orderlies, on duty with Capt. McCook in search of me, thinking I had taken the wrong road, were captured, he narrowly escaping. Early in the morning, Col. Harker, with his brigade, was moved back to Rossville, and by night made a reconnoissance up the Rossville Road as far Gordon's Mills, driving squads of the en-by before him. At 2:30 P. M. gave Gen. Wood his orders through one of my staff, who eceived them in person from department deadouarters, to move his other brigade at and at 5 P. M. my staff officer reported to me at Ringgold. My entire section and three divisions were then at Ringgold. Gen. Hazen, visions were then at Ringgold. Gen. Hazen, with his brigade, having crossed the river yesterday, rejoined his division (Palmer's) toorce in the vicinity of Lafavette; or, sec and, to move eastward and southward toward Rome in case he has continued his retreat. Other verbal instructions received by my staff fficers, urged upon me the importance of Leeping my separate divisions in supporting listance of one another. At 3:30 A. M. I re-eived your despatch of 3:30 P. M., informing me that the enemy was in heavy force in the valley of Chattanooga, and instructing me to move my whole force across by the most available route, and as quickly as possible, to the Rossville and Lafsyette road, to some de-fensible point between Gordon's Mill and Sbield's house, and to close Wood up with me, or myself with him. I at once called my General officers together, and, after a long consultation, and diligent inquiry of citizens as to the nature of the roads and country, gave-orders to move the command in the distance of the interest of the interest of the interest of the command in the distance of the c ction ordered at five in the morning.

Sept. 12.—Sent word early this morning to al. Wilder, who was in the advance and near ng of the battle, I have the honor to Tunnel Hill, to return to Ringgold with his command, and to follow on my line of march, command, and to follow on my line of march, covering my left flank. He moved promptly and met me at Ringgold, and reported that the sattle of the Chickamauga opened.

August 31.—My command stationed in Sequatchie Valley, at Pikeville, Dunlap and Thurman, respectively, excepting Gen. Wagner's brigade, 1st Division, opposite Chattanoogs, and Gen. Hazen at Poe's Tavern, the latter fifteen miles north of Wagner, and both in Tennessee Valley. My command had been thus stationed since the 19th of August, having left Manchester, Tenn., on the 16th of ing left Manchester, Tenn., on the 16th of August, crossing the mountains at three different points, in obedience to orders received inght, having had a severe skirmish during the

Sept. 13.—In the morning, the 4th U. S. cavalry, 650 strong, reported to me for duty. The three divisions were put into position for defence. Gen. Cruft and Col. Wilder were sent out to reconnoitre on the left, 4th cavalry on the right to McLemore's Cave, and Gen. VanCleve to the front and centre on Lafayette directed me to cross my trains at Bridgeport, and my troops at Bridgeport, Shell Mound, and Battle Creek. Should Chattanooga be evacuated, Hazen and Wagner were to cross the vireage dependence of three miles, when the brigade the river and occupy the place, and close down upon our left. Colonel Minty, with his brigade of cavalry, and Col. Wilder, with his brigade of cavalry and college of cavalry and cavalry and cavalry and cavalry and cavalry and cav was halted and soon after returned to camp. In this skirmish, Captain Drury, Chief of Artillery, 3d Division, was severely wounded. At 2:30 P. M., received your despatches of 12:30 and 12:35 P. M., ordering me to post Gen. Wood in a strong defensible position at Gordon's Mills, for him to resist stoutly the enemy's advance, and in case of extremity, and if Granger's force (a division of infantry) had not arrived at Chattanooga, so as to support Wood at Rossville, and he (Wood) should compelled to fall back further, oust take his position at a point guarding the oad to Chattanooga and around the point of Lockout Mountain, and hold them at all azards. To move the balance of my command during the evening and night to a po-sition on Mission Ridge, so as to cover the road along the valley of Chattanooga Creek, and also that running up the valley of West Chickamauga Creek, and to send Wilder with his command up Chattanooga Creek, to feel his way carefully, and who is to join General Thomas as soon as possible, the latter order-ing me to hold myself in readines-to execute, -night, the orders sent me at 12:20 to-day. Sept 14.—At 6:30 A. M., received a despatch from Col. Goddard stating that it was the instruction of the General commanding that I should move before daylight to Mission Ridge, and it was perhaps his unfortunate wording that prevented it. I at once commenced the movement for the night. Colonel Minty, with the balance of his cavalry brigade, reported for duty. I went with him in the rear of my two divisions. Wilder, with his command, I sent to join General Thomas, then in Chattanooga Valley. Arrived at the position soon after 9 A. M., and stayed there all day, being unable to have communication with Department Headquarters. Saw nothing of the enemy. At 7:40, received orders to return with the command, placing it at Orawfish Springs or along the Chickamauga Valley,

Sept. 15.—The two divisions moved as directed last night, the left, Van Cleve's and Davis's, at Orawfish Springs; the right, Palmer's, near Gowan's, and supported on its ht by the 9th Tenne f the command, under Minty, sent to recon-oitre the whole front and left. At 11:30 P. i. Colonel Minty reported that the enemy was force at Dalton, Ringgold, Lecht's, and Rocksbury Church.

Sept. 16.—Nothing occurred of peculiar in-near Gowan's, too late to make the move terest this day except that department head-quarters were established at Crawfish Springs. At 9:30 P. M., received orders to issue the men three days' rations in haversack, and wenty rounds of ammunition in the pockets f each man, in addition to having the car-ridge box full. There are indications that the enemy is massing for an attack on our left. Sept. 17.—General Thomas, with his corps, moved on our lines to-day. In the afternoon ne left in advance, to make room for Gen ent headquarters.

Sept. 18.—At 10:30 A. M., General Wood, colding position on Chickamauga, at Gordon's fills, sent in word that a strong force of kirmishers were advancing on his left. Soon fter another of the staff rode up, reporting his line very thin, and asking for a brigade Atll A. No firing to be heard. In he afternoon Palmer was ordered up to form ne of the Chickamauga River, which, from Gordon's Mills, runs in an easterly direction, while the road to Chattanooga, via Rossville, is nearly north and south. We hold the river pickets were reported to be between the road and the river. I was informed by the General commanding that we also hold the bridge across the Chickamauga at Reed's Mills, with one brigade of infantry, situated northeast o Gordon's Mills, and distant about three and s half miles; and thus the space between the two mills was in a great measure open to the Report of the Operations of the 20th Army Corps during the Engagements of the 19th and 21st of September, on Chickamauga River, Georgia. BATTLES.

In continuation of my report of the move-ments of the 21st army corps, since crossing the Tennessee River, and ending on the 16th the day preceding the battle, I have now the honor to report the operations of command during the last engagements. was four o'clock on the morning of the 19th pefore the last brigade of Maj. Gen. Palmer's livision arrived at its position on the left of Brig, Gen. Van Cleve. During the evening and night of the 18th, my command was placed in position, as directed by the General commanding the department, the right rest-ing at Gordon's, or Lee's Mills, and the left running northeasterly, along the Chickam auga, and the road to Rossville. On the morning of the 19th I rode to the extreme left of my line, and there being no appearance of the enemy in my front, at 7:40 Å. M., I or-dered Colonel Grose, of Maj. Gen. Palmer's division, with his brigade then in reserve, to make a reconnoissance down the road, and in the direction of Reed's Mills, on the Chickamauga, to ascertain if the main road from Gordon's Mills to Rossville was clear; and, if practicable, to ascertain if Col. McCook, with his brigade, held the bridge at Reed's Mills, from which direction I had just heard the report of four or five cannon. On arriving at the position, I found all quiet, Colonel Wilder, with his command, supported by two regiments of Gen. Van Cleve's division, being on the extreme left. I found Col. Wilder in the edge of the woods, one hundred and fifty yards west of the road leading to Rossville, his men dismounted and behind a breastwork of rails. It was here reported to been heard passing in our rear toward Chatwhich these troops were passing and to report this officer returned and reported. All still being quiet, I rode rapidly to Departmen Headquarters with this information, which thought important, and which I believed would be gladly heard by the commanding half or two miles to my left. Musketry firing began, and soon became so heavy that I was satisfied the battle had commenced.

weaken myself by sending aid to Major-Gen, Thomas, who, having passed to my rear, was already engaged on my left. All being quiet on my front, I ordered Major-General Palmer to the support of Major-General Thomas. I at once informed the General commanding the that from present appearance General Thomas, will move in echelon. His left advanced, threatening the enemy's right. At 11:20 I received a note from Captain Wilkard, aid-decamp to Major-General Thomas, dated Mr. Daniel's house, September 15 (intended for 19), 10:45, exting the if method in the control of 10:45, stating that if another division can be spared, it would be well to send it up without spared, It would be well to send It by without any delay. At the time of the receipt of this I heard very heavy musketry in the direction of General Palmer's, then advancing to the fight, and I at once sent Major Mendenhall my Chief of Artillery, and Colonel McKibben General Rosecrans's Staff, to see General Palmer, and learn the particulars. They re-turned quickly without seeing him, having been halted and shot at by the enemy, which led me to believe that General Palmer was not only fighting in his front, but was also attacked in his rear, and perhaps surrounded. I at once despatched Lieutenant-Colonel Loder, my Inspector General, and Colonel McKibben to Department Headengarters, which at this time had been leadquarters, which at this time had been noved to the Widow Glenn's, distant about a mile from my position, to report the facts and ask permission to bring up General Van Cleve to support Major-General Palmer, as I was then well satisfied that the enemy was crossing the Chickamauga at several points, and at one near my position. During this absence I sent to General Van Cleve to move up where I then was stationed, and just at the up where I then was stationed, and just at the time of his arrival Lieutenaut-Colonel Loder returned with permission to send General Van Cleve in, which I immediately did. He brought with him but two brigades, leaving his third brigade, Colonel Barnes, in position on the left of General Wood. At 12 o'clock M. I received your note of 10:10 A. M., ordering me to send Colonel Minty with his cavely brigade to Chattanages and to report for ry brigade to Chattanooga, and to report for ders at Widow Glenn's, which I at once complied with. He was then stationed in the woods in reserve. At 12:50 P. M. I received a note from General Palmer, dated 12:35 P. M, stating that his division was just going in, enemy said to be in heavy force, the fight is aging, but principally on hic left flank. At :15 P. M. I wrote to General Wood, reporting the heavy fight that Van Cleve and Palner were hotly in, and that he must look out or his left. I then sent Colonel Starling, my ght, and asking that I might move also Gen-al Wood to assist. He shortly returned with he request granted, and I despatched Major or Mendenhall to bring him up. The enemy ppeared to have troops enough to fight every where and to fill up every interval as soon as

At 2 P. M., I received your despatch of 1:45 P. M., advising me that you had ordered Gen. McCook to relieve me, to take command of my corps and to take the best positions possiole; also, that General Sheridan could come n, if necessary, on my right, and to take care of my right. On receipt of this note, the firng having ceased for a time, I immediately oder waitly to haddenexty housest final instructions, before General Wood's com-mand arrived, and returned just as General Wood, with his two brigades, came up to a position that General Davis, of Major-General acCook's corps, was fighting over, on the ight of General Van Cleve. Colonel Barnes's rigade, Van Cleve's division, which had been oft back with General Wood, came up just in dvance of Wood's two brigades and had gone to position through the woods to the right

f General Davis.
I rode forward to a battery which I undertood belonged to General Davis, where I was old I would find both he and General Wood Neither of them were there, and I rode back in search of General Wood. I had instructed Lieutenant-Colonel Starling to say to General Wood that, in coming to the field, he might have an opportunity, by leaving the road beore he reached our position and moving to his right, to strike the enemy on the flank. I should regret that I had not sent an order instead of a mere suggestion, but that the ment when I informed him that I had suggest it to General Wood. Colonel Barnes ved in the direction of, and Colonel Harker, f Wood's division, was going into position in the right of Colonel Barnes, when Lieut Colonel Starling, at the solicitation of General Davis, who was then being pressed by the enemy, recalled Colonel Harker, and, in this way, he was brought down the road beyond the position that Colonel Barnes had taken in the woods on Davis's right, and Colonel Buell, with his brigade, followed after Col. Harker, General Wood reached the field but a short ime before the enemy attacked our right, or Saturday evening; and, had General Wood been in the position I suggested, he would have been on the flank of the enemy, and, hink, would have punished him severely.

Colonel Buell went into position just off the oad, on the right and to the rear of General Davis's battery, which was firing over ar ould be seen plainly by their bayonets glis-nisg. In the meantime, General Wood, ith Harker's brigade, had passed still further lown the road, and went into position on Colonel Buell's left, 'striking the woods as he eft the road. In Colonel Buell's front there was a large gap in the woods, recently a corn-

The enemy in front of Colonel Buell came down, supporting Davis's battery, fell back in some confusion. All crossed the road through another open field, in which I and my staff were on a high point, when they came into the woods again, along the edge of which Colonel Wilder, with his brigade, was lying. His men soon opened fire, and when I or-dered the artillery that was at hand to be put the the attention that was at hand to be put in position along the edge of the woods, under the superintendence of Major Mendenhall, he opened fire rapidly from twenty-six guas, and soon checked and drove the enemy to the cover of his own woods.

Our loss in this brief conflict was quite severe. General Wood and Colonel Buell were present, and were very active in rallying the men and restoring them to order. Soon after accomplishing this, Col. Buell's brigade again dvanced, General Carlin and his o-operating, and reoccupied their former po-

About this time General Sheridan came up through the woods I was in, and promptly sent in a brigade to support these troops.

Soon after this I received your note of 3:45
P. M. at 4:35 P. M., stating that Davis was eavily pressed, and ordering me to assist him f I could with some of my command. At 4:45 P. M. I received your note of 3:10 P. M., stating that Johnson was driving the rebels handsomely in the centre; that he had taken many prisoners, and expected to drive the enemy across Chickamauga to night Colonel Barnes with his brigade I had hear from as being in a commanding position and in good order. Generals Palmer and Van Cleve I had not heard from since they went n. Night was coming on and I left for de eartment headquarters, where, after sitting in council with the Commanding General, other corps commanders and some general officers I received at midnight the following order:

Headquarters Department of the Cumberland, Widow Glenn's House, September 19, 1863—10:20 P. M. GENERAL: The General Commanding rects me to inform you that General McCook has been ordered to hold this gap to-morrow, covering the Dry Valley Road, his right resting near this place, his left connecting with General Thomas's right. The General places your corps in reserve to morrow, and directs ou to post it on the eastern slope of Mission idge to support McCook or Thomas. Leave the grand guard from your command out, with instructions to hold their ground until driven in, and then to retire slowly, contest-ing the ground stubbornly. I proceeded at once to remove Gen. Wood back to the reserve position, leaving the grand guard as directed, and by daylight of the 20th September I found General Van Cleve in the valley, very near his new position. General Palmer (with my strongest division) having been sent to General Thomas the day before, was to remain with him. About 8 or o'clock on the morning of the 20th, I was ordered to move General Wood's division up to position in front which had been occupied y General Negley, and to keep General Van Cleve in reserve and in supporting distance of Wood. This order had been executed but a bort time, when I was ordered to move Gen Van Cleve, with two brigades (his other brigade having been sent with General Wood who otherwise could not have filled the place formed a column doubled on the centre, an partment was at this time in the field near by I was soon ordered to move Van Cleve directly to the front to take part in the battle now whose troops were already in motion.

At moment I received a message from Gen. Wood that it was useless to bring artillery into the woods. The Chief of Artillery to this corps was ordered to put the batteries back on the ridge in a commanding position, with several hundred yards of open country in front, where I hoped, in the event of any reverse, these guns could cover our retiring troops. I now eceived a message from General Wood, in-orming me that he had received an order dior throw the headquarters of the department of move at once to the support of General Reynolds. Looking at the artillery which Major Mendenhall had just put in position, and not knowing exactly what to do with it inder my last order, my difficulty was sudden-removed by the enemy. While we had been steadily, from the beginning of the battle, and very properly, in my judgment, weakening our-right and strengthlearly to throw himself between us and Chat-anooga. The enemy had been receiving acg these alternated lines from the field Upon turning from the batteries and look-ng at the troops, I was astounded to see them ddenly and unaccountably thrown into at this moment near the troops and I was unable until sometime afterward to account for batteries, and I rode immediately there, hop-ing that stragglers enough, both from right and left, would rally there to hold the position, or at least enable me to carry off the guns. Upon reaching the batteries I found them without support of a single company of infantry. It was a time of painful anxiety. I still hoped hat support would come from somewhere or Lieutenant Cushing, command battery H, 4th artillery, rode up to me at this moment and said he thought the enemy's cavlry bad gct in our rear. Upon asking him or his reason, he answered that a shell had ast been thrown from our rear. I started to alry bad gct in our rear.

ook if this could possibly be so, stating to Lieuwnant Cushing that I did not think it possible. He asked me, in case he was driven, which way he should go. I replied, he must not be driven, still hoping for support. He said he would like to know what road to take in case he should be driven, and I pointed out the direction. A short distance in rear of the guns, just at this moment, I met about sixty or seventy men, apparently rallied, and led up to the batteries by a young officer whom I did not officer, Brigadier-General Van Cleve, It will be best here to explain the cause of the confusion and consequent disaster which but a little while before had befallen two bripassing to the support of Gen. Thomas's troops in his front, I do not know of what division, ran in-great confusion, and a battery at great speed was driven through the ranks of the en, wounding several seriously. This, of arse, threw his command into great confu on, and before he could possibly restore orfor which the troops who suffered by it were not responsible, and which scarcely could have been avoided by any precaution, is deeply deployed by the officers and men of that gallant division, where treads are not responsible. division, whose steady courage and discipline has been too often and well tried to be doubted now. Notwithstanding this disaster three regiments of the right comprising his brigade, on the right of our main line, and fighting all day, and only left the field when ordered. The little force brought by Gen. Van Cleve the support of the battery was insufficient I rode rapidly toward the next bridge hoping to find some General officer, and to obtain support for my batteries. I had ridden but a few yards down the hill, when I heard the batteries moving quickly away. Nothing but the greatest courage enabled their officers to save any of their guns.

The enemy had come close up to the batteries on the left, while pouring in a severe fire from sharp-shooters from the front. All the horses attached to one of the guns of Lieutenant Cushing were shot almost at the same moment, yet he succeeded in bringing ther positions, during the day, I refer you to he report of Major Mendenhall, Chief of Ar-

I remained here some time, probably half an hour, expecting to meet some officers from the commands which had been posted to my right. After this lapse of time, Major Mendenhall informed me that the enemy had turned our own guns upon us from the hill we had just left. I then determined to go immediately to Rossville and Chattancoga, if it was practicable. I could hear nothing of Gen. Rosecrans, nor of Generals McCook; Sheridan, and Davis, and I greatly feared that all had faller into the reatly feared that all had fallen into the ands of the enemy. I should have ridden rapidly to Rossville or Chattanooga, to apprise whoever was in command of the actual state things on our right, but that I feared to add nnon and caissons all the way to Rossville; I were moving without organization, but ithout undue haste or panic. After leaving hill and riding slowly about a mile and a lf, I met Colonel Parkhurst with his regient and with men enough whom he had copped to make another regiment of the orary size, and who seemed to be well organ ed. The Colonel rode up to me and asked if would take command. I told him no, that e was doing good service and directed him bhold his position and let the artillery, wagons, &c., pass, and then follow on covering manding had not been captured, but that he had gone to Chattanooga. General Van Cleve, having collected about 200 of his men, sent me word that he was camped a few miles distant on the road at he had received orders from the General manding the army. The enemy made ome demonstrations during this day on my cont which covered the road leading from inggold to Rossville, but was easily made to ep a respectful distance, and after night, in bedience to orders, my command withdrew of quietly to Chattanooga that our own pickwere not aware of the movement. Gen. C. Whitaker had reported to me on this day with two brigades, and occupied the extreme left of my line. His were the last troops to withdraw, and I remained until he moved away with his command. On reaching Chattanooga, I was assigned to the position I

It is a source of much regret to me that circumstances made it impossible, with any regard to the interests of the service, for my corps to act as a unit in these battles. The oride of the corps was such that I think its attack would have been irresistible, and an attack upon it fatal to the enemy. But the reat object of the battle was obtained. We Chattanooga; we hold the prize for which the rampaign was made, and if nothing has been dided to the fame of the corps, it is only because its noble blood has been shed in detachments on every part of the field where an enemy was to be encountered, instead of flowing together as at Stone River. On the same day, while several boys were skating in Demariscotta river, in the State of Maine, three little boys, Edwin Jones, aged twelve years, Joseph Houston, eight years, it would save many a pang of sorrow to their hearts in after life. Boys, take warning and heed the advice given by your parents, and never engage in this sport without first obtaining their consent.

A suit has been commenced in one of the courts at Brooklyn, New York, against Mayor Kalbfleisch by Oscar F. Oatman, advertising agent of the Sunday Mercury, to recover a bill of $150, for political puffing in that paper. The Mercury, it appears, sustained the Mayor when he ran for that office

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1864. MAJOR-GENERAL CRITTENDEN'S REPORT .-The clear history of the events preceding the battle of Chickamauga, and the details of the fights of September 19th and 20th, which are embraced in the official report of our distinguished and gallant fellow-citizen, published on our first page, would require no comment were it not that General Halleck has asserted that the army corps commanded by McCook and Crittenden were swept away toward Chattanooga, bearing their commanders along with them. We have already, in our comments on this series of battles, shown that these two corps were ordered by General Rosecrans to the support of Thomas, and the latter officer in his report, which we published yesterday, says that soon after 4 o'clock on the 20th he received General Rosecrans's order from Chattanooga directing him to assume command of all the forces, and, with Crittenden and McCook, take a strong position and assume a threatening attitude at Rossville, sending the unorganized forces to Chattanooga for reorganization. This was done to enable Rosecrans to examine the ground at Chattanooga and make all necessary dispositions for defence. In the early preparations of the day, Gen. Rosecrans had directed McCook to hold the gap covering the Dry Valley road, his right near Widow Glenn's, and his left connecting with Thomas's right, while Crittenden's corps was placed in reserve, posted on the eastern slope of Mission Ridge to support McCook or Thomas About 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning, Crittenden, from his new position, was ordered to move Wood's division to the front to occupy a position vacated by Negley, and to keep Van Cleve in reserve and in supporting distance of Wood. Soon after obeying this, he was ordered to move General Van Cleve, with two brigades, seven hundred yards to the front, to take part in the battle raging there. As this was the last of his corps not already disposed of, Crittenden told Rosecrans that he should accompany it, and, on riding forward was lashed to the Spanish shore, and her with this intention, he found that Van Cleve had run upon Wood's command. He therefore directed him to pass through the first interval he could find and engage the enemy. At this moment Gen. Thomas made another urgent call on Crittenden for support, who directed the officer making it to Gen. Rosecrans, who was not far distant, and in the mean time he did not stop the movement of Van Cleve, for he was going in the right direction, if Gen. Rosecrans should change the orders and send him to the support of Thomas. The order was changed with directions to move Van Cleve's division with the utmost despatch, not exhausting the troops, to Thomas's left. As the order was in process of execution a message from Wood announced that it was useless to bring artillery into the wood; the chief of artillery was thereupon ordered to place the batteries back on the ridge which commanded a position with several hundred vards of open country in front, to cover a retreat in case of reverse. At this juncture Gen. Wood received orders direct from de- Committee at Philadelphia, adds: "We have partment headquarters to move at once to the support of Reynolds. While Crittenden was tucky contemporary will be heeded, and that deliberating what to do under this last order, the result will be what every lover of the in reference to the artillery which Maj. Mendenhall had just put in position, the enemy, desire. Never before have so potent conleggely reinforced with fresh troops made a sudden attack on the right and right centre, driving these attenuated lines from the field Gen. Crittenden was cut off from his command in bringing off all the guns but one, though nearly all the horses had been shot, will be read with pride by their fellow countrymen. The immediate cause of the confusion which had befallen two brigades of Van Cleve's division, while in the act of passing to the support of Thomas, was, that troops in his front, of what division Crittenden does not know, ran in great confusion, and a battery was driven at great speed through Van Cleve's ranks, wounding several severely and throwing the command into confusion, which could not be restored before the enemy were upon them, though three regiments of the brigade, the 44th Indiana, Lieut. Col. Aldrich, 9th Kentucky, Col. Cram, and 17th Kentucky, Col.

In the meantime, Gen. Crittenden, with less than one hundred men with him, had awaited an hour, expecting to meet officers from the right, but when Major Mendenhall informed him that the rebels had turned his own guns upon him from a hill just left, Gen. Crittenden resolved to ride to Rossville and Chattanooga, if possible, as he was ignorant of the position of Rosecrans, McCook, Sheridan, and Davis, and feared they had been captured. He went slowly into Rossville and from thence to Chattanooga, where he found Rosecrans, and was ordered to report to Thomas at Rossville, which he did that night, and on the morning of the 21st placed Wood's and Palmer's divisions of his corps in their assigned positions, covering the road from Ringgold to Rossville, where they remained until after night, when they were withdrawn to

No one who regards the fair fame of Gen. Crittenden and his noble corps will fail to read this entire report, which completely disproves the assertion that his command was ions were one by one detached from him-and tery at the time the terrible assault was made. When he was cut off from all communication with the rest of the army he went to headquarters to report, while his brave divisions were in the most hotly contested places of the field, doing their duty under orders. Palmer, Cruft, Hazen, Van Cleve, Beatty, Wood, Whitaker, and others won added laurels in those days, and the public sentiment of the entire nation will endorse the proud boast of Crittenden that the people will look with hissing and scorn upon the traducers of his 21st army corps when they learn with what stubborn bravery it poured its blood out in their cause.

Lieutenant-Colonel Thomas J. Morgan, of the negro regiment in Nashville, attended a Christmas dinner at Headquarters, whereupon a scene ensued, which one of ar conmporaries thus sketches: "Lieut. Col. Morat the Christmas dinner at headquarters ille, offered his hand to the Lieuten-LO2d Ohio, with whom he

British waters may produce some spasmodie indignation among a certain class of people who are anxious to find causes of complain egainst our Government under any pretext, but there is nothing which can lead to any serious international difficulty as its result. We arrive at this opinion with the more certainty because Great Britain has enough to attend to at present in steering clear of European complications, but the Philadelphia American has recalled a case, which furnishes a shield from that valuable armory of diplomatic weapons-precedent. When the Island of Cuba was infested by pirates, in the years 821, '22, and '23, and all the adjacent waters were scoured by them, a squadron was sent out by our Government to destroy them, under the command of Commodore Porter. A squadron was also despatched by England. Owing to the comity and concurrence of Spain, these efforts were successful in reaching the desired end. Among the vessels of the American squadron was the steamer Sea Gull, which, on one occasion, towed a number of boats belonging to the squadron up the old Bahama channel, and was then secreted among the numerous caves of mangroves, while the boats continued their reconnoissance. The force was increased, at this juncture, by the boats of an English frigate, bent on the same errand. A piratical schooner having been heard of near Cape Blanco, the boats were sent in that direction. The pirate was found lying in a small creek, in Cuban territory, with the cargo of a captured American vessel, from New York, secreted near at hand. She was captured by boarding, and some twelve men were killed, with as many wounded, during the encounter. She was then laden with the cargo she had captured, and despatched for Matanzas. On the following day a lugger, guilty of similar piratical offences, was captured, and also sent in to Mantanzas. During a severe gale the schooner went down at her anchorage, but the crew were taken off; were transported to Key West, and from thence to Havana, where they were delivered to the Captain-General. In all of these operations the English were joined | ARE CLOSING OUT THEIR IMMENSE STOCK with the American forces; and for this very transaction-so strikingly analogous in its features to the capture of the Chesapeake-the first lieutenant and two passed midshipmen of the British frigate were promoted, Nothing was said at the time, or subsequently, concerning illegality; but the whole matter was approved by both Admiralty and Government-approved though the captured pirate stolen booty landed on it. This closed the pirate war along the whole Spanish coast: and not an act of piracy has occurred to our commerce in those waters since the boats of the Sea Gull, commanded by Lieutenant Commander Isaac McKeen, and Commodore Engle. then a midshipman, put this period to the depredations which had so often occurred there Nor was there any exceptions taken to the transaction by the Spanish Government. This matter of record is so pertinent in all of its leading features to the capture of the Chesapeake, that it may properly be cited to refresh the memory of Lord Lyons. Although English precedents may be had for almost any outrage on sea or land, it is doubtful whether another could be found, in the history o other nations, which should so thoroughly shield and protect an occurrence so excep tional as was the recapture of the Chesapeake

The seizure of the steamer Chesapeake

The Buffalo Courier, quoting the remarks we ventured to offer concerning the action of the Conservative Union National no doubt that the sound advice of our Kensiderations urged the union and co-operation of the conservative masses. It is not a party victory that we rally to secure. In the present sense, the success of both on the right and left, but the way was conservative ideas is simply the preservaopen to the batteries, and he rode there hoping tion of all that we hold dear. And, even in that there would be a rally to hold the posithe teeth of the formidable obstacles that lie tion or enable him to carry off the guns. The before us, success is possible of attainment. efforts of Crittenden and of that "pure hearted The progress of radicalism has been too switt and brave officer Brig. Gen. Van Cleve" to and sweeping to allow of its holding permasupport the batteries, and the noble conduct nently the ascendency it has for the time seof Lieut. Cushing and other cavalry officers cured. Fevers are never chronic. While the head of the people may have been temporarily touched by the delirium of fanaticism, its heart, we believe, is still conservative and sound. It needs only that no glaring mismanagement occur on the part of those who lead the Union-loving hosts of the country, that with all diligence and vigor the appliances shall be used for enlightening and sobering public sentiment, and that true love of country shall burn, a clear and contagious fire, in the bearts and conduct of all who have influence and position among the people. We leave the 'Conservative National Committee's to arrange the preliminaries of the coming contest, satisfied that the matter is in faithful and competent hands." We need not say that we Steut, rallied and fought all day, never leaving share fully in the conviction and in the faith of our contemporary. The Union-loving men of the country have only to be true to themselves in order to win an all-glorious and allsaving victory in the great political contest that draws nigh. The New York Tribane, exulting over the fact that a delegation of negroes took part in an abolition meeting recently held in New Orleans, says: "The fact is more striking, but not more significant than those which are reaching us from every part of the States reconquered from the rebellion."

On this remark a contemporary makes this just comment: "The facts in regard to antislavery agitation 'which are reaching us from every part of the States reconquered from the rebellion,' signify simply that the emancipation itinerants, under the protection of the City of Louisville trust and invested 2 23 (City of Louisville trust and invested 2 39 376, 88 Federal aegis, are industriously and noisily misropresenting the sentiment of a people de Lamplighters, to their credit. 110 00 misrepresenting the sentiment of a people deprived by arbitrary power of the privilege of self-expression. This graphic description is as true as it is graphic.

> between the Union men and the secessionists in Kentucky, the Louisville-Bowling-Green Courier, the organ of the secessionists, published a series of personal sketches of some of the Union men of the State. Among these sketches, all of them false and nearly all of them calumnious, was one of the Junior Editor of the Louisville Journal, who was represented therein as being a native of Canada. We paid no regard to this bit of romance; and we have heard no more of it from the secessionists. Now, however, we understand that the fiction is revived by the abolitionists in Kentucky, who, as they have succeeded to the ambition of the secessionists touching the possession of the State, appear to be prosecuting their design with the weapons the vanquished secessionists have cast away. This we own is very fitting; and we notice the matter simply to adorn with a new incident the old tale of the virtual alliance between litionism and secessionism. Having nothe matter, however, we perhaps shall oned if we embrace the occasion to say gentleman in question is a full-

PILLS.

As a Family Physic. DEAR BRO. AFER HEALTHCH, TWO STANDARD PROMISES.

DEAR BRO. AFER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathertic in my daily contest with disease, and, believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855. them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

Dr. J. C. Aver-Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache anyl ody can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once.

Yours, with great respect,

ED. W. PREBLE,

Clerk of Steamer Clariou.

Bilious Disorders -- Liver Complaints.

which is worthy the connected of the procession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb. 1856. Sir: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot he sitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remediated derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have siddom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did and a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it di readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D., Physician of the Marine Hospital. Dysentery, D'arrhea, Relax, Worms. From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and Diarrhaa. Their suvarcating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.
Dr. Ayer: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purity the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can conficently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES. Warsaw, Wy. ming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

Dear Sir: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find the man excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the foundains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHE M, M. D. Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gut, Neuralgia, Dropsy. Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. It others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costieeness to origin at in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, Physician and Midsife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expelsions. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Epis. Church.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

MORNING DESPATORES. WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. The following is the message sent to Congress to-day by the President:

By a joint resolution of your honorable bodies, approved December 23, 1863, the paying of bounties to veteran volunteers, as now practised by the War Department, is to the extent of $300 in each case prohibited after the 5th day of the present month. I transmit for your consideration a communication from the Secretary of War, accompanied by one from the Provost-Marshal-General to him, both relating to the subject above mentioned, I earnestly recommend that the law be modified so as to allow bounties to be paid as they now are at least until the ensuing first day of February. I am not without anxiety, lest I appear to be importunate in thus recalling your attention to a subject upon which you have recently acted, and nothing but a deep conviction that the public interest demands it could induce me to incur the hazard of being misunderstood on this point. The Executive approval was given by me to the resolution mentioned, and it is now by a closer attention and a fuller knowledge of facts, that I feel constrained to recommend a reconsideration of the subject.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN. WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. The Secretary of War, in a letter accompanying the message, says: No one seems to doubt the necessity of increasing the military force for a speedy termination of the rebellion, and, although much difference of opinion exists in reset to the automatical states. ion exists in respect to the system of raising troops by recruiting and the payment of bounties and the system of raising an adequate force by draft, yet two things are certain: first, that whatever may be the weight of argument or the influence of individual nion, a large portion of the people in every State prefer the method of contributing the proportion of the military force by giving bounty to volunteers rather than have a draft; second, that veteran soldiers, who have bounty, constitute a cheaper force than raw recruits or drafted men without bounty.

The information received by the War Department from the armies in the field prior to the passage of the resolution of December last indicated that a very large proportion of fully re-enlisted for three years under the terms authorized by this department, but such enlistments have been checked, and will, in a great measure, be put to an end by the re-strictions imposed by action of Congress. strictions imposed by action of Congress.

It it believed that if any limitation should be imposed upon the payment of bounties to encourage the re-enlistment of the veteran forces now in the field, it could not be sooner than the 1st of February. The Postmaster-General, in a communication, says that after great labor the volunteer recruiting system, under the President's call of October 17th, is practically in progress. Letters, all dated practically in progress. Letters, all dated between the 20th and 24th of December, from e superintendents of the recruiting service sixteen States, are in the main very enuraging as to the prospect of getting a large imber of recruits by volunteer enlistments. Several of the States were in a fair way to asise the quota assigned to them.

The act approved December 23, 1863, forbidding after January 5th, the payment to rolunteers of all bounties, except $100 authored by the act of 1861, was not known at the I have no doubt that the effect of that act will be to check, if it does not stop, enlistments. Of the hundred dollar bounty provided by the act of 1861, but $25 can be ps vance; the $75 being due only after two years of service. It took some time after October 17 to get the people roused to the subject of volunteering. They are now most earnestly engaged in it, and I have reports for October and November and part of December, showing that 42,529 men have been enlisted, and the daily average of enlistments is increasing. Under these circumstances, I espectfully suggest the propriety of a recon-ideration of the act forbiding bounties after anuary 5th. These communications were referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

The Legislature met and organized this morning. Republican officers were elected in both houses. in both houses.

The Governor's Message was read. After referring to State topics, he devotes a portion of his message to the consideration of military matters in connection with the draft, &c., and then goes into the consideration of national affairs at length; and, after asking what has been accomplished by the Government in the territory wrested from rebellion, says: But one course will save us from national ruin we must adhere to the solemn pledges made by our Government at the outset of the war; we must seek to restore the Union and uphold the Constitution. To this end, while we put forth every exertion to beat down armed reforth every exertion to beat down armed rebellion, we must use every influence of wise statesmanship to bring back those States who now reject their constitutional obligations. We must hold forth every honorable inducement to the people of the South to assume again the rights and duties of American citizenship. We have reached that point in the progress of the war for which all have struggled. We now stand before the world a great and successful military power. Wise statesmanship can now bring this war Wise statesmanship can now bring this war to a close upon the terms solemnly avowed at the outset—good faith to public creditors and to all classes of citizens—and the world demands that this be done. The triumphs won by our soldiers should be followed up and secured by the peace-making policy of the statesmen in the Cabinet. In no other way can we save the Union.

can we save the Union. The passenger train from Cincinnati and the train from Dayton, on the Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton Railroad, collided sev-en miles below this city at ten o'clock this morning. The baggage-master, Tom Davis, on Potter's train, was killed, and some fifteen or twenty others more or less injured—some it is feared, fatally. Dr. Willard, a dentist o this city, is reported among the fatally injured. One lady and child had to be cut out of the car with axes; they were badly burned. The names of the injured will be telegraphed as soon as they can be obtained.

XXXVIIITH CONGRESS - FIRST SESSION. WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.

SENATE. A communication from the Secretary he Navy, in reply to a resolution of the cenate giving the names of the officers who ave left the naval service since December 1 860, and entered the Confederate s Mr. Grimes presented a petition from itizens of lowa, asking for such modification f the enrolment low as will include all forn residents. Also, a memorial of the Tri piration Society or non-resistance praying exemption from the $300 clause in the conription law. Also, a petition from the Lake aperior and Mississippi Company for grants r public lands to aid in constructing a new hanged. 76 B cent selling at $1 56, at $7 65 B sellon. Mr. Powell offered a bill preventing army and navy officers and others in the military service from interfering in State elections, and loved its reference to the Judiciary Commit-

Mr. Grimes opposed the reference, and moved to send it to the Military Committee. Mr. Wilson moved to lay the bill on the tale, but withdrew his motion.
The bill was referred to the Judiciary Comlittee by a vote of 20 to 14. Mr. Wilson introduced a resolution calling on the Secretary of War for information in regard to the appointment of officers of the army. Adopted.

Also, a bill restoring the $400 bounty to veterans and $300 bounty to volunteers until the 15th of February, and bounty not exceding $100 to persons of African decent, residents in States now in rebellion, during such time as the President may determine. Mr. Teneyck moved the reference of the portion of the President's message referring o reconstruction in the seceded States, to the Judiciary Committee, and spoke against the President's policy.

Mr. Fenton, of New York, gave notice of the introduction of a bill relating to claims for losses and destruction of property belong-ing to loyal citizens, and for damages done thereto by the troops of the United States uring the present rebellion. Mr. Harrington, of Indiana, gave notice of the introduction of a bill providing for the payment of bounties to soldiers mustered into the United States service, and who have been hororably discharged, and have served for a period of not less than three years.

On motion of Mr. Coffeith, of Pennsylvania, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Sccretary of the Treasury be requested to report to this House what have been the services of Jay, Cooke & Co. to the Government in the sale of United States securities, and what has been the rate and whole amount of compensation therefor; also, whether said service might not have been as successfully performed by the Treasury Department itself; also, what sums of money, if any, have been paid out of the Treasury for advertisements ordered by Jay, Cooke, & Co. On the motion of Mr. Chandler, the followng resolution was adopted: Means be instructed to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill amending an act entitled an act to provide internal revenue to support the Government and pay the interest on the public debt, so as to reduce the duty on mineral coal from 51/2 cents to 11/2 cent per ton.

Mr. Nelson, of New York, introduced a bill to repeal the duties now imposed by law on the importation of coal and paper, and paper envelopes.

The bill was referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

It is now stated that the rebel Government refuses to allow the French Emperor to take his tobacco from that place. Our Government, t will be recollected, had given its consent. Southern papers bring us accounts of the death of Mr. Peyton, Confederate Senator from Missouri, together with the fact that the usual honors were paid to his memory in the body of which he was a member.

[For the Louisville Journal.] IN MEMORY OF MISS LOULIE W. JACK. "As the flower of the field-so shall he perish."

Lay her down gently,
Break not her rest;
Sweetly she sle- peth
The sleep of the blest;
Close the fringed eyelids,
Fold the white hands,
Smoothe back the ringlets
In soft shining bands. Bring the fair raiment—
Meet to adorn
Her, whom the angels
Summoned this morn,
Gather the flowers,
Wreathe her pale brow—Crowned with the light of Eternity—now,

Flow'rs on her pillow,
Flow'rs on her breast,
Flow'rs to bloom o'er
The place of her rest—
Living, she loved them,
Scatter them wide!—
Like them, she blossome
Blossomed—and died! Died! ere the blighting
Of life's pain and care,
Faded her roses—
Frosted her hair;
Died, like the flowrets,
Brighter to bloom
In the fair spring of
The land 'yond the tomb.

Angels came for her—
Did she not say—
"Sister, they call me—
Call me away?"
Fondly we loved her;
Fond was the Love
That sent the blest angel
To bear her above, As she drew nearer, Nearer the thore Of the dark river— "Father, restore!" "Give back our tressure! Prayed we. In vain! Clasping the cross to Her breast once again—

Smiling, she left us, Fair the still presence, bleeting your eyes—
Fairer—the spirit
Ent'ring the skies!
Give back your lamb to
The Good Shepherd's care Safe on his breast will
She wait for you—there.

OBITUARY. Ried, in New Castle, Ky., of typhoid fever, on the 1st day of January, Miss Nannie W. Brows, aged 27 years.

As the New Year dawned upon her feeble frame, rapidly dissolving as it was by the touch of death, there broke upon her rapt vision the first bright glimpses of the unfading glories of that better world, and, ere the fast flying day had passed, earth had faded from her view, her bissed spirit made its exit, and entered into the presence of its Maker.

She died in the vigor of a ripened intellect and in the full time of her useful cess. Nature had endowed her with a superior unind, which, by a liberal education and rigid discipline of study, had been enriched with varied learning, giving to her an approciative and descrimina larg judgmont. THE NEW NATIONAL BANK CURRENCY. - The new notes, which will soon come into general use, will be of the same character in all the States, excepting the necessary alterations to suit local names and numbers. The face of the five dellar notes may be briefly described as follows:

At the left-hand corner of the face is a vignette representing Columbus sighting land. He is standing on shipboard, and in the act of pointing out the shore of Gaana Hani, while a figure, kneeling, is seen pointing in the same direction, and looking into the face of the great discoverer. In the immediate foreground is another figure, with a cross in clasped hands, and the face turned heavenwards, in thanksgiving to the Almighty. The background is occupied by a priest and other figures, while on the sail above the word "five" is engraved in highly ornamented letters. figures, while on the sail above the word "five" is engraved in highly ornamented letters.

The vignette consists of a picture of Columbus presenting America, in the form of an Indian maiden, to the Old World, presented by three figures, representing Europe, Asia, and Africa. In the foliage overhead is the figure five, handsomely ornamented.

The border of the face is composed of the word five, scroll work, consisting of grape leaves and the figure 5, alternating in pannels. The novel peculiarity of the border is that no two words, figures, or scrolls, are exactly two words, figures, or scrolls, are exactly alike, having been varied purposely, so that the counterfeiter may be unable to imitate the note by repeating small portions, as is frequently noticed in spurious money. In order to imitate these notes the counterfeiter will ind it necessary to engrave the whole with the minutest nicity.

The legend of the face, or that portion which is to be read, contains the following in-

NATIONAL CURRENCY.
This note is secured by bonds of THE UNITED STATES With the U. S. Treasurer at Washington.
L. E. CRITTENDEN,
Register of the Treasury.
F. E. SPINNER,
Treasurer of the United States.

The First National Bank of Philadelphia will pay to bearer, on demand, Five Dollars, Philadelphia, Pa, November 21, 1863.

The former inscription will be common to the national bank notes in all the States, while the latter gives an illustration of the necessary deviation required by local names and numbers. In the lower margin of the face are found the words, "Act approved February 25, 1863." The spaces beneath each vignette are left vacant for the signatures of the president and The back of the note displays another beau tiful exhibition of ingenuity and taste. The principal vignette is a large oval, extending over the greater part of the back, reproducing Vanderlin's famous picture in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington, representing the landing of Columbus. The picture is printed in black, as are also the legends which surround it: The upper legend is as follows:

This note is receivable at par in all the parts of the United States, in payment of all the taxes and excises and all other dues to the United States, except duties on imports; and also for all salaries and all other debts and demands owing by the United States to individuals, corporations, and essociations within the United States, except interest on public debts.

The lower legend is as follows:

Every person making or engraving, or stiding to make or engrave, or passing, or attempting to pass, any imitation or alteration of this note, and every person having in possession a plate or impression made in imitation of it, or any paper made in imitation of that on which this note is printed, is, by act of Congress, approved 25th of February, 1883, guilty of felony, and subject to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding fifteen years, or both.

The border and pieces are printed in green. The border is made up of the figure 5 on a shield repeated. In the top border occur the words "national currency." ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES,

MURFREESBORO, Dec. 31, 1863.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: I have been a faithful reader of your noble paper ever since I crossed the Ohio river, nearly two years ago. I fell in love with your paper, and I cannot refrain from expressing my affection for so valuable a champion of the Union cause. I will continue to love it, read it, and believe it, so long as its managers will stand with unflinching firmness by the Constitution of our country. Your course thus far has been firm, patriotic, and decisive. You have opened your batteries with terrific thunder upon the rebel miscreants of the hunder upon the rebel miscreants of the South and with equal bravery you have de-nounced the vile and sneaking serpent of abolitionism in the North. To one you offer grape and shell, to the other wisdom, truth, and constitutional obedience. You are now directing your labors to unite the conservative elements of the country into one servative elements of the country into one solid phalanx, and thus drive from our high places, through the agency of the ballot-box, the party now in power. May your labors in this direction prove successful; it is the only true way to insure the triumph of conservative principles. I am a Democrat and believe in that party; with all the abuse and slander it has undergone for the last for it has undergone for the last few years, my faith remains unshaken. The Democrats of the North did more to fill the ranks of the the North did more to fill the ranks of the army for the first year than did all their opponents. Whenever and wherever mass meetings were held for the purpose of enlisting men, Democratic speakers were always selected; and of all the war speeches published nearly every one of them emanated from prominent Democrats. There was policy in this; those speeches were weighty, had great influence, and tended to unite the different parties for the common good. ties for the common good.

The North was united for the first eighteen The North was united for the first eighteen months of the rebellion as one man. The issue then was, the Union and Constitution on one side, and disunion on the other. All parties in the North were united on the former. But what a change do we witness in the North during the last year; wrangling among political parties, and quite too much contention and strife in this hour of our country's sorest trial. What has caused all this?

When the war began fears were entertained by some that those who conducted the war would convert the war for the Constitution and the Union into an abolition crusade. In order to relieve all suspicion the illustrious J.J. Crittenden introduced the following resolution, which was passed, and in fact was resolution, which was passed, and in fact was then considered by all the platform upon which the war was to be conducted:

which the war was to be conducted:

"That this war is not waged on their part in any spirit of oppression or purpose of conquest or subjugation, or purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of those States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution and to preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality, and rights of the several States unequality, and rights of the several States unimpeached; and that as soon as these objects How does this resolution agree with the Emancipation Proclamation? How does it agree with some of the late military orders? How does it agree with the proclamation appended to the recent message?

Why, sirs, the Orittenden resolution and the proclamation stand in open array. Then, how can you expect those who remain true to the platform upon which the war was to be conducted to access with the the platform upon which the war was to be conducted to agree with the proclamation? The administration has furnished the fuel for political fire, and its supporters now denounce all those who wish to be true to the Orittenden resolutions as rebel sympathizers. The men of the North who have adopted the wholesome motto, "The Constitution as it is, and the Union as it was," how shamefully are they classed in the same catalogue with the treacherous devile of the South! Suppose the conservative men and the Democrats of the Conservative men and the Democrats of the North would be just where the abolitionists say they are, against the government; then, suppose they would commence active demonstrations against the government, how long would the government stand? If these base and fraudulent charges were true, then in vain might we expect a union of States. If the rebels could believe abolition journals when they say that Ohio Lajino and they say that they are the Ohio Lajino and they say that they are the Ohio Lajino and they say that they are the Ohio Lajino and they say they of the China and they say that they are the Ohio Lajino and they say they of the China and they say they sa the rebels could believe abolition journals when they say that Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois gave 452,00° votes in favor of Jeff Davis, would not this afford them the greatest comfort? Have we not been told that the Democrats of Ohio and Pennsylvania are traitors and copperheads? Such reports, if they were true and reliable, would give more comfort to the enemy than cargoes of ammunition and rations. But I trust there is not one rebel among that wicked and perjured tribe that would believe the foul breath of abolitionism. No, the rebels fear the conservatives more than the radicals. Then with the good, the truly loyal and constitutional men of the country, is left the only hope for the preservation of the Constitution and the old Union. The name of General George B. McClellan is already floating upon herald wirgs, and, I hope, will soon be written upon our country's banner as a candidate for the Presidency in the coming election. Let all the parties unite on him; publish it to the soldiers, and you will hear a

The symptoms of Catarrh, as they generally appear, are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, and find that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterward becoming thick and adhesive. As the disease becomes chronic the discharges are increased in quantity and changes in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are either got rid of by blowing the nose, or else they fall into the throat and are hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice is thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place. By the aid of the Liquid Catarrh Remedy all these symptoms can be effectually removed.
